

This is to certify that

Zina Ibrahim

was nominated for a
King's Education Award 2025

April 2025

King's College London

I believe my nominee should receive this award because they truly went above and beyond to explain challenging concepts within the stipulated time period. As well as making the lecture engaging, having a well-thought-out learning and assessment plan, and not having an as steep learning curve for a subject as complicated as hers. Each lecture had a personal touch of caricatures and anecdotes, giving it the sense of a short adventure through a storybook as we covered her modules!

OMG where should I start, Zina is the best lecturer in the BHI Group. She teaches in 2 different Modules and the r commitment is remarkable. She makes the Modules extremely interesting. She is so passionate about the that is contagious. Specially with Machine Learning. We need more people like Zina, she is a down to earth academic that cares about her about her students and that always teaches with the biggest smile.
